

NOT TODAY

You rode that coaster down the stairs
And felt the sunlight heat your back
 You knew right then and there
 There was no turning back

You started slow, the words still fast
Didn't expect to find Agent Jack
 You knew right then and there
 You were on a different track

You always think to throw the switch
But this time you burned right down to the wick
 You didn't know then or there
 But you were on the attack

 Running through the highway
 Balanced on a ledge
 The future's new every day
 You must change your life
 But not today
